

HAMPTON, PHOEBUS AND OLD POINT.

CIRCUIT COURT IS IN SESSION

Grand Jury Returned Six Indictments and Will be in Session Probably Several Days.

RULES AGAINST LATE JUROR

Messrs. G. A. Schmelz, E. M. Tennis, W. B. Woodfin and J. W. Davis were Late in Reaching the Courthouse but Each Had a "Good Excuse" and Got Off.

Some little excitement swept over the courthouse yesterday morning by the announcement that Judge J. W. G. Blackstone, who convened the November term of the Circuit Court, had issued rules against Mr. George A. Schmelz, the Hampton and Newport News banker; Mr. J. W. Davis, Mr. W. B. Woodfin and Mr. E. M. Tennis. The four gentlemen had been drawn to serve on the grand jury to be sworn in.

Tennis First to Arrive.
While Clerk H. H. Holt was writing the rules, Mr. E. M. Tennis, who is president of the Bank of Phoebus arrived in the courthouse, and later Messrs. Woodfin and Davis came into court. A friend of Mr. Schmelz's telephoned to Newport News and informed the banker of the action of the court. Mr. Schmelz came to Hampton on the next car and some of his close friends had much pleasure over a joke that he had "walked" down. After the four gentlemen had arrived in court the grand jury was empaneled and got down to work. Each of the gentlemen apologized for delaying the court. Mr. Schmelz stated that he had failed to receive his summons.

Explanations Are Accepted.
Outside of the fun the friends of the several gentlemen had over the incident the matter was dropped after the explanation of each of them. The first day's session of the court was devoted largely to routine business. The docket was called and several cases were set for trial. In the case of M. N. Matthews against E. M. Jennings, the jury returned a verdict giving Mr. Matthews judgment for $125. Judge Dudgeon represented Mr. Matthews and Mr. J. S. Collier was counsel for Mr. Jennings.

This morning the case of Mrs. Juliette Whitaker, under indictment for housebreaking, will be taken up.

THE RULE IS ISSUED.

Case Against Commissioner of the Revenue to Be Heard Today.

Judge Blackstone shortly before adjourning the Circuit Court yesterday afternoon issued the rule against Commissioner of Revenue Harry W. Booker, directing him to appear in court this morning and show cause why he shall not be removed from office for "neglect of duty."

The rule was asked for against the commissioner by Commonwealth's Attorney.

orney B. A. Lewis because Mr. Booker refused to comply with the request of the commonwealth's attorney in lacing the stocks of goods of the merchants on the taxable property list.

While the rule is asked for to get the matter before the court it is with the province of Judge Blackstone to move Mr. Booker should he decide that Mr. Booker erred in failing to comply with the demands of Mr. Lewis.

WORK OF THE GRAND JURY.

Six Indictments Returned in the Circuit Court in One Day.

The grand jury, after being in session all day yesterday, returned six indictments and were adjourned over until this morning. The work before the grand jury may require several days. The presentments of yesterday follow: Berkeley Courtney, larceny.

James Eppes, larceny. James Smith, malicious maiming. George Hawkins, malicious maiming.

Patrick Murphy, malicious maiming. In the case of David McTear the jury returned "not a true bill."

Patrick Murphy is the old member of the National Soldiers' Home who tabbed John Sullivan, the Spanish-American war veteran.

KNOX WILL HAVE THOMPSON'S PLACE

Low Governor of the Soldiers' Home to Start on December 1. It is Reported.

The forecast published by the Daily Press several weeks ago that Colonel Thomas T. Knox, now inspector general of the National Soldiers' Homes, will succeed Colonel William Thompson as governor of the Hampton home, is verified.

It was learned yesterday that Colonel Knox will likely come here on Thanksgiving Day and will spend the month of December acquainting himself with the duties of the office. His term of office will begin January 1.

A report in circulation yesterday was to the effect that Colonel Thompson will leave the Home December 1. Colonel Thompson's term as governor expires on January 1, but he will be given a thirty days' vacation, so it is rumored.

Colonel Thompson refuses to discuss the reports.

The statement was also made yesterday that Capt. Roberts, chief clerk of the quartermaster's department, expects to resign in several days. The statement could not be verified.

The Daily Press telegraphed to General McMahon in New York, asking him to confirm or deny the report that Colonel Knox has been settled upon as governor, but the message was not answered. As General McMahon has heretofore taken the first opportunity to deny all the rumors, his silence this time is considered as most significant.

WRANGLING MARS FOOTBALL GAME

Phoebus Athletics Take Contest From Hampton Eleven in an Easy Manner.

FINAL SCORE STANDS 23 TO 5

Long Run of Nealon and Good Playing of Briggeman, Hopkins, Belate and Moore Among the Best Features of the Struggle—Pugilism Mixed Up in the Exhibit as an "Extra."

In a game marked by considerable struggling, the Hampton Athletic football eleven was defeated on Riverview field yesterday afternoon by the Phoebus Athletic club 23 to 5.

About one hundred enthusiasts from Hampton and Phoebus shivered throughout the game, which from the beginning was Phoebus'. There was much wrangling and one fight was started during the contest. Three of Hampton's players were slightly injured in the battle and the fact that Curtis and Henshaw, the Hampton ends, were out of the game greatly assisted Phoebus in winning.

Phoebus made her gains around ends, but was unable to buck center and the lines. Hampton's only score was made on terrific rushes in the lines. Phoebus played a much better game throughout, evincing good team work and showing the effect of fine practice, although it was said that yesterday was the first time the Phoebus line-up had played together this season.

Two of Phoebus' touchdowns were made on flukes. First, when Sinclair fumbled Phoebus' kick-off, Simpson capturing it on the 15-yard line and taking it over for a touchdown.

Nealon blocked Hampton's kick 2 minutes before time was called and ran 50 yards in a nopen field for a touchdown. Hampton's only touchdown was made by Belate, by successive gains through the line, while Hopkins and Briggeman made the other two touchdowns for Phoebus by end runs. Belate failed to kick a difficult goal for Hampton, and Gado failed one, and kicked three goals for Phoebus.

The features of the game was the fine playing of Hopkins and Briggeman for Phoebus, and Belate and Moon for Hampton. Moon got through the line and blocked two of Phoebus' kicks.

There was considerable wrangling over several decisions of the referee and umpire, each team contending that its side got the "raw deal." Hampton players accused Phoebus of slugging unnecessarily, but in all the contest was one that created a deal of enthusiasm and several sensational runs gave the rooters room for expansion.
